AUSTIN SERIO

front end development & design

I strive to design beautiful products that when put into the hand of the user, "just makes sense". The phrase "all dichotomies are false dichotomies" finds no exception when it comes to UI & UX. I believe that if you must compromise one option for the other, your approach is flawed. I view each new project as a chance to sharpen my skills, never being satisfied with the status quo.

EXPERIENCE

MAY 2016 - PRESENT

Chief of UI/UX

UP2CODE | NEW YORK, NY

Responsible for the fulfillment of all mobile app & web design contracts. Focused on designs based around user-device interaction and designing from the perspective of the user. For the user, it must "just work" while also managing to stun the eye.

JUNE 2016 - AUGUST 2016

INSTRUCTOR

iD Tech Camps | MIAMI, FL

During my time at iD Tech, I taught JavaScript, Photography, and Web Design. I was well known by my superiors, including both my immediate supervisor, as well as our regional recruiter, "for [my] commitment to [my] course and truly pushing it to the limits".

DECEMBER 2015 - MARCH 2016

FREELANCER

Bask Energy | New York, NY

Designed company logo and mockups for initial proposed products. Worked closely with co-ceos to create a unique website that matched the new company's needs.
